When your motherland becomes the first evil of the evil axis - Temple of Literature - World Wide Blog - World Wide Reader Network (computer version)

From the perspective of human nature, this is a very heavy or heart-wrenching topic, and in many cases, it is also an inevitable psychological "shadow" of individuals or groups. Axis of evil is a political term derived from "Axis" set in World War II. The view originally expressed by U.S. President George Bush in his State of the Union address on January 29, 2002, refers to "a country that supports terrorism". Since February 2022, the evil key behind-the-scenes of the other two "communist and former communist" major powers have been publicly exposed due to the exposure of the Russia-Ukraine war. These countries are both personal autocratic and dictators, and they are also protecting the personal interests of the family and the party, with the purpose of deception and enslavement of their own people. They embrace each other and play with terrorist means, intending to subvert the existing international order. Therefore, they have won the contempt and siege of the vast majority of countries in the world, and have become the focus of attention of the current global geopolitical and civilization conflicts.

It has been 80 years since the end of World War II. Worldwide, the evil image of the Axis powers has become household name and deeply rooted in people's hearts. Because of the bad reputation, the parties often choose to avoid these names or labels, while the bystanders will choose to be curious and explore the secret, but there are also aliens who regard evil as powerful and self-exalted. Ironically, Germany and Japan, the two notorious Axis countries at that time, have become democratic, free and civilized countries recognized in modern times. On the whole, their integrity, diligence, thrift, fineness, promise-keeping, politeness, cleanliness and other excellent qualities promoted by many human beings are obviously higher than those of neighboring countries around them, and often leave a deep impression on tourists.

Most Chinese, including overseas Chinese descendants, probably never thought that the above sensitive topics would fall on their heads. Whether you are in the mainland, Hong Kong, Macao, Taiwan, Southeast Asia, or North America and Europe, even the most remote Chinese people on earth, as long as you know a little Chinese, or consider yourself as a "descendant of the dragon", you will collect a lot of descriptions of Chinese virtues from your memory, and some people often show off or brag about yourself. In fact, Chinese people are not stupid and consider themselves that "human nature is good". Major media in the world have also recently revealed that Chinese people are one of the groups with the highest IQ in the world. Chinese people have proud capital, how can they be stupid enough to be tainted with evil titles? It is said that the Forbidden City was specially opened to President Trump of the United States. He was told that China's thousands of years of civilization history have never been interrupted and is the only existing ancient civilized country in the world. Isn't it awesome? Trump may have wondered at that time. Don't you need to be great again?

Some people summarize this "five thousand years" of human virtue that has reached the ceiling height as follows: "Emphasis on the establishment of a harmonious and coordinated human relationship. Advocating "righteousness as the top", "uting righteousness and profit", "righteousness first and then profit", and demand "seeing profit and thinking about righteousness" and "seeing and thinking about righteousness". "Reafer" refers to national interests and national interests, "profit" refers to personal interests, and gain refers to what is obtained. Emphasize that social interests are higher than personal interests, and emphasize the moral obligations of individuals to the whole. This is a collective spirit rooted in social culture, and then extended to the whole nation and country. There are also steps and models to realize the ideals of life by "advocating "gewu, knowledge, sincerity, integrity, self-cultivation, family, governing the country, and peace in the world". This basic moral concept of living in the world is the basic requirement for human material production activities and self-survival and development, and it is also the minimum code of conduct for people's common life. Sure enough, it has the appearance of a "community of human destiny".

It sounds very suspenseful, and there is no inside or scared to death. In fact, the essence is to be determined by one, that is, to work hard for the emperor. The imperial court has been cutting leeks for 2,000 years with the twists of "righteousness" and "profit". Glory, self-confidence, and unbehassive national self-esteem and self-love are common phenomena in human society. However, bragging regardless of the facts, spreading rumors, deception, or self-bragging will definitely be despised by the world. In fact, the actual life of most Chinese people is quite shameless. In the Iron Curtain, you can protect yourself with virtue and sneer at the evil words of the outside world; but as soon as you go overseas, the red book will be exposed, and the licensee will inevitably encounter embarrasssment or difficulties. There are more people with the dual split personality of pride and inferiority. The herd effect will make the parties concerned not care or act more proudly, which will attract a lot of contempt. Perhaps someone will argue that evil is an incitement or insult from the West or the United States. Then you can try it in a backward country, which may be despised more powerful and more common, except when you want to make money. There are too many stories like this, and it's not worth wasting time to describe them.

This can be understood why Taiwan's passports have changed, that is, to blur the despised mark on the cover. The same is true for Hong Kong. In addition to the color of Western countries such as the United States, many people simply want to take British overseas passports of "second-class citizens", which is also a reason to avoid evil and disaster. Overseas Chinese who have taken other passports will also encounter the politeness and curiosity of other ethnic groups. They still want to know the rend to do with the motherland. The motherland of overseas Chinese spent a lot of money to reverse the stereotype of the evil logo. In addition to the publicity of shooting war wolf dramas, it also desperately recruits talents in sports and other fields. Everything is for the sake of a face: tell the Chinese people that it is the central power of all countries coming to Korea. This is different from the commercial culture of most countries. The behavior of the new Axis countries is the malicious manipulation behind the dictatorship, with the intention of achieving the dual purpose of publicity at home and abroad.

Perhaps some people want to defend or sophistry the definition or scope of evil, with the intention of confusing those who have flaws in their three views. In fact, these justifications are also one of the appearances of evil. Another evil feature is not admitting mistakes and sophistry to the end, because this is a necessary condition for the survival of a dictatorship. The evil society pays great attention to deceptive brainwashing, so that you can put "patriotism" in everything, so that it is more convenient or easier for them to steal and kidnap the country. It is true that no one or society has evil or evil. Lu Xun blamed it on human nature, so many Chinese people tried their best to defend themselves as a great, excellent race or country since ancient times; while Hu Shi, a modern thinker, believes that the social system gave birth to these evils. Unfortunately, the double slavery shackles of stubbornly adhering to feudal despotism and the socialist system have aggravated, or aggravated the evil nature of human beings. When normal conscience cannot reflect on itself or distinguish between right and wrong, the amplification effect of the group multiplies and spreads, that is, it becomes an evil country. This does not exclude people who are still sober and strive to maintain the basic dignity of human nature.

Taking passports and population flow as examples, since the expansion of the axis of evil, the trend of "running" or "walking the line" has risen. No matter how the new Axis countries promote or curse the democratic society, a large number of immigrants are unmoved. They drag their children and sacrifice their lives and death to the United States, Britain, Canada, Australia, Japan, South Korea, etc., which are demonized by the Axis power with various vicious language. What makes people fall by the glasses is that the more people are boasted of, the more people want to escape. Moreover, almost all of the upper class of these authoritarian groups send their children and property overseas. In reverse, any democratic country arranged by the United States without a visa has not had a large number of illegal immigrants. Economy and freedom are the main factors of population flow. Even if some countries that restrict freedom from the Internet and learn from the visa-free policies of Western countries to attract tourists, almost no one wants to leave there, because most people have a benchmark of conscience to recognize evil in their hearts.

The evil axis is not a noun of fantasy. After World War II, more and more countries began to embrace a democratic and free modern society. In the early 1990s, after the collapse of the Soviet Union and the socialist blocs in Eastern Europe, a few residual authoritarian dictatorships felt panic and difficulty resisting internal and external pressure for freedom, equality and openness, which put these dictators on the path of terrorism. The few remaining communist countries, from secret to open, colluded with world-recognized terrorist organizations, took the initiative to bear the name of the evil axis. The outbreak of Wuhan pneumonia in 2019 taught the world what fraud, sophistry and lie propaganda without any logic: pneumonia was brought by the U.S. military, but Dr. Li was not allowed to expose the epidemic truthally; the plague was created by the United States, but it was not allowed to trace its origin; the virus was foreign, but it was not allowed to be said that it was made by the laboratory. of. In addition to being shameless and joked, this regime fell into the evil cesspool without taking its own tricks.

The three-year plague of the century, coupled with the excited and secret support of the evil invaders of the Russia-Ukraine war, finally ushered in the expansion of a new type of Axis countries in 2022, and at the same time, the Axis countries opened up a second battlefield in the Middle East. It was originally covered up for decades, but now it has been seen by the whole world, and the essence and category of the evil terrorist group have been properly certified.

If anyone still has illusions that evil has nothing to do with you and me, you might as well take a closer look at the recent examples of terrorist fraud groups in Myanmar. Everything there is the product of Weiguangzheng. You think it has been fighting terrorism in Southeast Asia, but it itself is the root of all terrorism. The most important point: In these fraud areas, Chinese passport holders are the most priority or the only guarantee of entering the park! No matter who you are, celebrities or scientists are the same, and they are free ideal organ donors. In the history of China and foreign countries, who can find such evil?

After the reform and opening up after the 1980s, and years of anti-Japanese and anti-fascist education, many Chinese are naively proud of the great glory of the motherland, because China is the victorious country of the first two world wars, especially World War II. After rising, he was suddenly disliked by the world and became the first evil. Psychological blow and inability to accept it was natural. Not wanting to face is the first reaction of instinct. Unless you hide in the deep mountains and live in seclusion, you have to face the reality. Unfortunately, this is an international dilemma that is difficult to avoid in the next few years or decades. At this time, Chinese people should think more about the experience of Germany and Japan after World War II, and how to overcome themselves, be with justice, and meet future challenges at this difficult time. When future generations, family members or friends evaluate our experience, you can answer calmly: At the turning point of history, I did not go with evil. I am worthy of this era and the motherland that gave birth to me.

There are few people willing to talk frankly with you about the relationship between the evil Axis and the motherland. If you agree with some of these views, or other netizens' articles and comments, there are many ways to get rid of yourself: like, comment, or transfer to the wall... Let your friends and relatives know that an overseas Chinese, whether in Europe and the United States or in Hong Kong, Macao, Taiwan and around the world, is sober and rational, especially in the break with evil, without hesitation. Isn't it beautiful when the Spring Festival of the Year of the Snake comes?
